CHAMPION

"SOMEONE WHO SUPPORTS OR DEFENDS ANOTHER PERSON OR CAUSE VIGOROUSLY"

A whistleblowers' champion must have;
"access to resources (including access to independent legal advice and training) and information sufficient to enable him to carry out that responsibility".

WBC 18.4.5 (3)

Jack Mitchell offers bespoke consultancy beyond compliance to meet more than the mere practical requirements of Financial Conduct Authority Policy Statement 15/24 and Prudential Regulation Authority's Policy Statement 24/15 or those wishing to voluntarily comply with these obligations.

SERVICES
WBC support boards appointing or those appointed as whistleblowers' Champions, whether recruiting, investigating disclosures, or training senior managers we can provide.

EXPERIENCE
Jack Mitchell, Director, is in the unique position of having 23 years' practical independent experience in whistleblowing from training, educating and the drafting or review.

WHAT WE DO
WBC provides the practical and technical support for your organisation to meet its legal, regulatory and social responsibilities.

EXPERIENCE

Jack Mitchell

Jack is an expert in whistleblowing.

He is independently recognised by Chambers & Partners 2015, London who record:

"A name synonymous in the market with high-profile whistle-blowing claims, and someone who has a well established reputation for High Court advocacy and restrictive covenant issues. His meticulous preparation is highlighted as a major strength."

Strengths:
"He works very hard for his clients" ... "A very thorough barrister who shows great attention to detail."

Chambers & Partners 2015, Western:

"Was a strong record of handling high-profile matters and is adept at shielding clients from public exposure. He demonstrates expertise in cases of whistle-blowing, and advises on Public Interest Disclosure Act claims in the commercial sector."

Jack's 23 years of experience in whistleblowing, arising from a legal and regulatory context, ensures he is the person best placed to provide objective, independent confidential advice and support to your organisation. This expertise is further enhanced in his capacity as a joint author of the leading legal textbooks.

Jack is also qualified to undertake certain work directly, without the need to instruct solicitors.

WHAT WE DO

We can support you to exceed the "Speak Up" Guardian's requirements and enable your Guardian to enhance the culture in your Trust to encourage and address the internal reporting of concerns. Whether you require a review, mentorship, reporting, investigating or a tailor-made solution, we are here to help you set and exceed your goals.

Internal Review
A review of internal whistleblowing systems:
• Establishment, review, maintenance or full provision of staff awareness systems to help you map out the responsibilities in your Trust;
• Training activities to disseminate whistleblowing policies;
• Assistance with the preparation of statements to your Board;
• Meeting Guardian objectives from providing the basic standards required of all staff, assisting with education, training and assistance with receiving or writing annual statements for boards or regulators on the implementation, use, success or needs of current procedures.

Individual Mentorship
Individual training or mentorship for your Guardian.

Complete Solutions
Really we offer an annual complete solution of all the above on a rolling consultancy basis to ensure your Guardian meets their regulatory requirements but takes steps to receive our accreditation together with access to our newsletters and annual conference of Whistleblowers' Champions.

Two sites in one

WBComs needed an online home for its two-pronged services - Whistleblowers' Champion and Guardian. The site targets the legal profession, government bodies and companies employing whistleblowers. We also designed the logo and developed the mountain-climbing theme.

Features

Clean, call-to-arms, reassuring, informative.
